REPORT FROM THE CHAIR OF TRUSTEES

The Hon Greg Crafter, Chair Trustees

On behalf of the Trustees of the Don Dunstan Foundation, I am very pleased to report to you that the Foundation has continued to build its reputation and range of activities as an important contributor to the interplay of public policy debate and action in a number of key areas:

- Human rights
- Indigenous rights
- Affordable housing
- The provision of public infrastructure
- Corporate social responsibility and
- Climate change

The selection of these key areas has, as ever, been shaped largely by the founding Values that Don Dunstan left with us. The Foundation has also broadened its remit to include major issues such as climate change that it is confident that Don Dunstan would be taking a stand on if he were alive today. Both of these broad criteria have shaped the framing of our mutually reinforcing program of events, projects, research papers and means of providing information to our many supporters such as the bulletins, electronic newsletters, media alerts and the Foundation's website.

Many of the Foundation's activities are a work in progress and their impact subject to the dynamism of policy development and implementation. The impact of the Foundation's work can be seen in the way it is shaping some of the policy debate. Areas include affordable housing policy, Aboriginal employment strategies and broader policy concerns on Indigenous rights. Significant action leading to a resolution of such issues depends on the ideas and recommendations generated through the work of the Foundation being adopted by governments and the corporate sector. Some of the ideas are also actively pursued through the actions of individuals or group activity in civil society. The dynamism of policy development and debate also provides a window for the Foundation to do more in the interests of realising Don Dunstan's Values.

In reporting on the achievement of Don Dunstan's Values I would like to highlight some of the key activities.

The Foundation has always sought to advance "Respect for Indigenous people and protection of their rights." This year witnessed the continuation of the Aboriginal Employment in the SA Public Sector project. I am confident that the work being done through an analysis of workforce data, the gathering of knowledge on best practice and the survey of Indigenous employees will lead to a series of recommendations that will lead to a better deal for current and future Aboriginal public sector employees. Already, the independent identity of the project, as it is sponsored by the Foundation, has led to an enthusiasm from Aboriginal employees that there will be a breakthrough on ideas for redressing the low proportion of Aboriginal employees in the SA public sector.

Two Foundation events have reinforced the attention that must be given to Indigenous rights by the community. At the 2006 Don Dunstan Human Rights Oration, Professor Larissa Behrendt, spoke on the topic, "Reclaiming the Human Rights Vision: A Pathway for Reconciliation". In May 2007, the Foundation was most honoured that Professor Lowitja O'Donoghue agreed to give her name to an annual Lowitja O'Donoghue Oration and that she presented the Inaugural Oration: "Black and White Together, we shall overcome, someday." The recently updated South Australian Strategic Plan contains a number of targets relating to the needs of South Australia's Aboriginal people. Life expectancy, attendance and achievement at school, employment, general health and well-being are all areas in which the Government is striving to achieve improvements. The aim, and hope, of our Board is that through our work and by building on the inaugural Lowitja O'Donoghue Oration we can influence the thinking of policy makers and strategists in at least some of these areas.

The Foundation's value, "Freedom of individuals to control their lives" has been engaged through the Affordable Housing project and the "food justice" event. The Dunstan Fellows work on affordable housing continues to influence state and national policy as governments and the political parties consider the best ways to bring home ownership and rental housing more within the financial reach of ordinary Australians. The work being done by "community foodies" in promoting community gardens and the need for accessible, nutritious food to bridge the divide between the haves and the have nots was highlighted through another of the Foundation's events. The Foundation is exploring a project to assist in promoting the importance and means of healthy food habits in the community.

The area of corporate social responsibility (CSR) is growing as an important component of business planning and operations and its interaction with community constituencies. Successful and genuine CSR activities across the world should help in advancing the Value, "Just distribution of global wealth." The Foundation was very pleased to involve one of the world's experts on CSR, Professor David Grayson in its work. The partnership established with the Savings and Loans Credit Union in presenting a workshop on CSR with Professor Grayson was much appreciated and I hope that the relationship will continue. The Dunstan Paper by Dr Ray Broomhill, Corporate Social Responsibility: Key Issues and Debates, was commissioned by the Foundation to help inform deliberations on the extension of CSR in Australia.

The Foundation's Don Dunstan Human Rights Oration and the public seminar with Leigh Sales on the case of David Hicks have served to alert us to the need to be constantly vigilant in protecting and advancing our "Respect for Human Rights." To further this Value, Mr Julian Burnside QC has been commissioned to write a tract on the impact on our rights of the Australian Government's terrorism and sedition laws.

The Values of "Celebration of cultural and ethnic diversity" and "Democratic and inclusive forms of governance" are being followed up through the Foundation's Dunstan History Project. The project includes an examination of Don Dunstan's promotion of the voices and identities of South Australia's ethnic communities and the Aboriginal community. It is also examining the nature and approaches of Don Dunstan's reforms in government processes. The Foundation much appreciates the work of the primarily voluntary project team in conducting interviews and research. I am also grateful to EDS for its confidence in the project and providing financial support.

Don Dunstan's advancement of democratic and inclusive forms of governance were also addressed by the Hon. John Bannon during the stimulating event organised by Flinders University, Memories of Don Dunstan 1926-1999, in celebration of the 40th Anniversary of Flinders University and the 80th Anniversary of the birth of Don Dunstan. Mr Len Amadio AO, Mr Stephen Hayter, Professor Christina Slade and Dr Peter Strawhan also spoke. The day was a perfect complement to the work of the Don Dunstan History Project.

Other important areas were addressed through the Climate for Change Seminar Series and EDS breakfasts. These events involved Professor Frank Muller on carbon trading and Mr Heinz Werner Engel and Mr Roger Carthew on EcoMapping. This series will be continued in the new year. In addition we were pleased to host (solely or in partnership) Professor Graeme Hugo on the impact of SA's ageing population, Mr Dexter Whitfield, Professor Mike Berry, Mr Tony Harris, and Mr Ken Davidson on the financing of infrastructure so vital to an advanced economy, Professor Richard Sweet on strategies to improve school retention, and the Hon. Kim Beazely on nation building and the public service. The Foundation also celebrated Don Dunstan's passion for food by establishing a plaque at the Regency Campus of TAFE and the Don Dunstan Cookery Scholarship.

The above activities have also been reinforced through a number of other joint activities. I am pleased to report that the SA Policy Online, web site, a collaboration between the three SA universities, the SA Government and the Foundation, will continue for another three years. A recent evaluation of SAPO highlighted the increasing use being made of the site by government policy analysts. The State of SA series, which involves researchers from the universities and the private sector and the editorial work of Associate Professor John Spoehr, also continued and produced information updates on a range of policy areas. The Dunstan Papers relied on the editorial work of Associate Professor Lionel Orchard and Dr Sophia Matiasz.

The Foundation is not standing still and there is considerable scope to do more. Some of these ambitions are limited by funding constraints. The Foundation is pursuing fund raising strategies to enable it to undertake activities which will further advance Don Dunstan's Values and make a difference in the community.

The strategic planning work undertaken by the Board points the way to developing further key aspects of the Foundation's work. The Board will be examining the establishment of a policy committee to recommend key areas of focus each year. The Board is also aware of the importance of engagement in public commentary of the day and will assess its role in that area.

The Board has identified that there is a need to establish a youth engagement strategy to ensure that the Foundation's values resonate with younger people. In that way the work of the Foundation can be regenerated and its long term future assured. We have no doubt that today's younger generations are just as concerned about the issues that relate to the values of the Foundation and these will not be lost or downplayed as we make those connections. The Foundation's branding strategy will be reviewed in this light and to ensure that it is articulating as clearly as possible its identity, its aims and its strengths.

As at the 30 June 2007, the equity of the Foundation was $242,995 compared with $267,335 as at the 30 June 2006. The Trustees are mindful of the need to maintain a minimum level of equity for the Foundation and have directed that the Foundation's operations be such as to preserve a reserve of $200,000. This means that project activities in the future will need to be based on the generation of sufficient income to cover all costs.

None of the Foundation's work has been able to be done by the Foundation acting alone. For its many successes, the Foundation relies on the continuing support of its major partners, donors, subscribers and other supporters, who attend events and contribute to projects and other activities. The Foundation's work involves close links with the University of Adelaide, the Australian Institute for Social Research, Flinders University and its academics, the Hawke Centre and Hawke Research Institute, the South Australian Government and major corporate sponsors and donors such as EDS, Jarvis Marketing, the Lane Print Group and the Savings and Loans Credit Union. To these, we must add other project partners, event partners and speakers, subscribers and other friends in South Australia and interstate and staff. The work of the staff of the Foundation, who has effectively implemented the directions set by the Trustees, is very much acknowledged. Particular mention must be made of the contribution by Ms Rosslyn Cox, who joined the Foundation in September 2003 and since then has dedicated her time, energy and expertise in advancing significantly the work of the Foundation. Ms Cox has moved to a senior position in the University of Adelaide.

I would also like to record a tribute to the Hon. Tom Burns, the inaugural chair of the Queensland Friends of the Foundation, who passed away in June. The Trustees are grateful to Tom for his work in Queensland and extends our sympathies to his family and Queensland colleagues.

The Trustees commend the work of the Foundation to you and look forward to your continuing involvement in the year ahead.

HON GREG CRAFTER
Chair, Board of Trustees

Detainee 002: The Case of David Hicks, with author, Leigh Sales

Tuesday 15 May

Author Leigh Sales engaged in conversation about the case of David Hicks with the ABC's Stateline South Australia Presenter Ian Henschke. It was a style that worked well and will be explored to a greater degree in the future planning of the Foundation's events.

Inaugural Lowitja O'Donoghue Oration, Black and White together, we shall overcome, someday, with Professor Lowitja O'Donoghue, 29 May

The year, 2007 is the 40th Anniversary of the successful 1967 Referendum when two references in the Australian Constitution, which discriminated against Aboriginal people, were removed. Don Dunstan played an important role in the Referendum and in the promotion of Indigenous issues and rights generally. The Foundation has been looking to better "serve" its value of "respect for Indigenous people and protecting their rights" most recently through the Aboriginal Employment Project. The anniversary of the Referendum presented a unique opportunity for the Foundation to establish an ongoing public commitment to this value. The Foundation was pleased that Professor O'Donoghue agreed to be the inaugural speaker of the oration. She had worked closely with Don Dunstan during his time in parliament to promote the rights of Indigenous South Australians. She is currently one of two patrons of Reconciliation SA and has been a supporter of the Foundation for many years. With the support of Reconciliation SA, Wilto Yerlo at the University of Adelaide and Yunggorendi at Flinders University, the Foundation has established the Lowitja O'Donoghue (Annual) Oration, to take place during Reconciliation Week each year, focussing on an issue of importance for the Indigenous community.

The inaugural oration was a signal success. A smoking ceremony and a moving performance by the Choir from the Centre for Aboriginal Studies in Music combined with Professor Lowitja O'Donoghue's Oration to provide all of those in attendance with a lasting memory of the evening. Around 600 people stood holding hands as the Choir led all in a version of "We shall overcome". An audio and written version of the Oration is available from the Foundation's website.

Don Dunstan Foundation EDS Breakfast with Professor Frank Muller,

Queensland event with the Hon Justice Michael Kirby AC CMG, What is a fair society?, Tuesday 19 June

PROJECTS

The Neighbours Program

The Foundation no longer funds the Neighbours Program but its support was recognised at an update forum in Melbourne in November. The Neighbours Program which was established as a result of the first Dunstan Fellows Program continued to expand its activities. Two visits were made by program participants to Indonesia and Malaysia to arrange a tripartite Australia-Indonesia-Malaysia Round Table in Kuala Lumpur on security and social protection systems. Leaders of Indonesian environmental, union, consumer and religious groups visited Melbourne in November. The leaders of the ACTU, ACF and ACROSS hosted the visit which coincided with the G20 Finance Ministers meeting in Melbourne. The visiting group and their Australian counterparts issued a communiqué to the G20 summit leaders.

The Dunstan Fellows project, Affordable Housing for Australian Families

The Fellows' work, although completed in June 2006, continues to feed into State and national policy debates on affordable housing. In July, State housing ministers, led by the South Australian Minister the Hon. J Weatherill, made submissions to the Commonwealth for a new affordable housing plan.

The Board has not yet identified a SA-based housing project for follow up over the next year owing to budget limitations. The Foundation is seeking sponsors for a project with local application. The project may include an independent assessment of the impact of recent State housing reforms on low income housing supply and affordability.

The Don Dunstan History Project

The Project continues under the leadership of the Foundation's project steering group comprising Professor Margaret Allen, Mr Bruce Guerin, Mr Andrew Strickland, Mr George Lewkowicz, Ms Felicity Morgan and Mr Alan Hutchings. The key components of the project comprise:

- A significant archive of sound recordings and transcripts of interviews of approximately 100 persons associated with Don Dunstan and the development and implementation of his reform agenda
- The deposit of the record of interviews, including transcriptions in archival collections at the State Library of SA and the Flinders University Library Special Collection
- Workshops and colloquia on selected policies and issues of current public importance
- A collection of essays written from records of interviews and workshops as well as a contemporary assessment and analysis of issues. The workshops and the essay writers will make a link with contemporary policy development and implementation, and
- A foundation for the engagement of younger South Australians in translating Don Dunstan's thinking and values into a 21st Century setting by including them in workshops and other project activities.

The project group is conducting interviews of persons significant in the development and implementation of policy on the arts, economic development, women's policy, urban and regional planning, nuclear energy, Aboriginal rights and public sector reform. EDS has agreed to provide $5000 per annum over two years for the Project. The National Library has indicated that it will fund 5 priority interviews and their transcriptions by professional oral historians. Funding has also been sought from the State Government.

To date, the group has interviewed or conducted preliminary discussions with 10 persons in addition to the 4 previously interviewed by oral historians. Data bases of sound files and transcripts are also being established. The latter will include a key word search facility. In addition, as interesting insights and key documents come to hand, they will be published on the Foundation's website.

Aboriginal Employment Project

The Project Group continues its work under the auspices of a steering committee with a majority of Indigenous members and three Board representatives. A detailed work plan was prepared and the project is expected to be completed by the end of August 2007. So far, the project has generated an analysis of public sector workforce data on Aboriginal employment. A literature review has been completed and an online survey of opinions and ideas on public sector employment practice is in hand. The survey includes questions on:

- why people joined the public sector
- the quality of recruitment processes and suggestions for improvement
- barriers preventing or discouraging people from seeking work in the public sector
- why people would leave the public sector and why they would stay
- strategies for improvements

From responses so far, it is evident that Indigenous employees have welcomed the opportunity to have their say on a confidential basis. The project is designed to provide an independent assessment of ways to facilitate the SA Public Sector achieving the Government's SA Strategic Plan target of 2% Indigenous employment by the year 2009.

WorkChoices Impact project

The Foundation registered an interest in the South Australian Government's Industrial Relations Commission inquiry into the impact of WorkChoices on South Australian workplaces, employees and employers. Unfortunately deadlines for submissions were very tight and the Foundation was unable to fulfil its interest in conducting a survey into the impact of WorkChoices on the most vulnerable employees. Subject to the findings of the Commission, the Foundation may pursue this area in its future work.

State of South Australia Updates

The State of South Australia Updates for 2006 was posted on the Foundation's website in December. In addition, The Advertiser published a summary article of key findings. Work on the next State of South Australia updates has been held over for 2007. Associate Professor Spoehr, editor of the series, plans to commission research early in 2008.

Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR)

The literature review on CSR, conducted by Dr Ray Broomhill was published as Dunstan Paper No. 1/2007, Corporate Social Responsibility: Key Issues and Debates. The Foundation also organised a visit by an international expert on CSR, Professor David Grayson CBE, in March 2007. The Board will continue to pursue appropriate opportunities to partner with the corporate sector to promote CSR.

Creating the Climate for Change

At their last meeting in November, Trustees decided to defer any projects on climate on account of resource limitations. Since that decision, EDS agreed to continue funding the EDS breakfasts on the basis of a theme of Creating the Climate for Change. The Foundation has taken the opportunity to use some of these funds to establish a series of forums around that theme. Professor Frank Muller's public seminar was funded through the EDS money. Professor John Quiggin's event scheduled for 26 July is a cost neutral event as he was in Adelaide on other business. The third person is proposed to be Professor Barry Brooks who heads the new Centre for Climate Change which is a joint initiative between the University of Adelaide and the State Government. Any funding requirements stemming from activities above and beyond the seminar series will be approved through the appropriate channels.

Food Justice in South Australia

The Food Justice event held in April has led to discussions about establishing a project that will support the extension of the work of the community "foodies" movement, that of the expansion of healthy eating habits in the SA community, particularly persons from disadvantaged groups. A project group would include the core group involved with the Food Justice event.

South Australian Policy Online

The funding agreements for the partners in the SAPO Project ended this financial year. The five parties to the Project have agreed to renew the funding agreement for another three years. The State Government committed $12,000 per annum. The Foundation and the universities pay $7,000 per annum. SAPO continues to be the only State-based single resource of its kind, mirroring the national Australian Policy Online website. The site now stores government publications and provides the means of access to the latest academic research and the latest work of non government organisations on SA public policy. There is also now a growing list of authors providing news and opinions on public policy as issues emerge in public debate or warrant airing as a result of the latest research. Of interest, is a new fortnightly series titled "Policy Challenges in South Australia." THE DON DUNSTAN FOUNDATION
NOTES TO THE FINANCIAL STATEMENTS
FOR THE YEAR ENDED 30 JUNE 2006

Note 1: Statement of Significant Accounting Policies

This financial report is a general-purpose financial report that has been prepared in accordance with the Australian Accounting Standards and Australian Accounting interpretations and other authoritative pronouncements of the Australian Accounting Standards Board.

The financial report covers the Don Dunstan Foundation as an individual entity complies with all Australian equivalents to International Financial Reporting Standards in their entirety.

The following is a summary of the material accounting policies adopted by the Foundation in the preparation of the financial report. The accounting policies have been consistently applied, unless otherwise stated.

The accounting policies set out below have been consistently applied to all years presented. The entity has however elected to adopt the exemptions available under AASB 1 relating to Financial Instruments:

Disclosure and Presentation, and AASB 139: Financial Instruments: Recognition and Measurement.

The financial report has been prepared on an accrual basis and is based on historical costs modified by the reevaluation of selected non-current assets, and financial assets and financial liabilities for which the fair value basis of accounting has been applied.

Accounting Policies

a. Income Tax

The Foundation is exempt from income tax as it is a charitable institution for the purposes of Item 1.1 of Section 50-5 of the Income Tax Assessment Act 1997.

b. Property, Plant and Equipment

During the year ended 30 June 2007 plant and equipment to the value of $2,010 was purchased and are carried at cost less, where applicable, any accumulated depreciation.

The carrying amount of plant and equipment is reviewed annually by the board to ensure it is not in excess of the recoverable amount from these assets. The recoverable amount is assessed on the basis of the expected net cash flows which will be received from the assets employment and subsequent disposal. The expected net cash flows have not been discounted to their present values in determining recoverable amounts.

Minor assets acquired by the Foundation are expensed upon acquisition. Other property, plant and equipment used by the Foundation are assets of The University of Adelaide. (refer to Revenue Accounting Policy Note)

c. Depreciation

The depreciable amount of all fixed assets are depreciated on a straight line basis or reducing balance method over the useful lives of the assets to the Foundation commencing from the time the asset is held ready for use. The depreciation rates used for plant and equipment is 10 – 25%.

d. Impairment of Assets

At each reporting date, The Foundation reviews the carrying values of its tangible and intangible assets to determine whether there is any indication that those assets have been impaired. If such an indication exists, the recoverable amount of the asset, being the higher of the assets fair value less costs to sell and value-in-use, is compared to the assets carrying value. Any excess of the asset's carrying value over its recoverable amount is expensed to the income statement.

Where it is not possible to estimate the recoverable amount of an individual asset, the Foundation estimates the recoverable amount of the cash generating unit to which the asset belongs.

f. Provision for Employee Entitlements

No employee entitlements are provided for as the University of Adelaide and the Government of South Australia provide employees as in-kind gifts (refer to Revenue Accounting Policy Note). Provision for Employee Entitlements attributable to the University of Adelaide employee is borne by the University and the Executive Director who is employed by the Government of South Australia has his entitlements met by the Government of South Australia.

g. Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include cash on hand and at banks including deposits held with banks.

h. Revenue

Revenue is recognised when, and only when, all the following conditions have been satisfied:

- (a) the Foundation gains control of the contribution or the right to receive the contribution;
- (b) it is probable that the economic benefits comprising the contribution will flow to the Foundation; and
- (c) the amount of the contribution can be measured reliably.

The Foundation's sources of revenue include government grants, donations, gifts in-kind, bank interest, sale of merchandise and proceeds from ticket sales for fundraising events.

In accordance with the revenue recognition policy stated above, pledge donations (including government grants) are only recognised when a formal, legally enforceable agreement exists.

Gifts in-kind represent goods and services provided by donors in lieu of cash and include cost of rental of office and storage space and one full-time equivalent staffing position paid by the University of Adelaide on behalf of the Foundation, and the Executive Director's salary paid by the Government of South Australia on behalf of the Foundation.

Gifts in-kind do not include services and use of assets provided by the University of Adelaide including furniture, access to photocopying facilities and telecommunications. Similarly, the personal library of Don Dunstan bequeathed to the Foundation, has not been recognised as revenue due to difficulties in reliably measuring the contribution.

Gifts in-kind are recorded as a revenue and expense in the financial statements with no impact on cash flow.

Interest revenue is recognized on a proportional basis taking into account the interest rates applicable to the financial assets.

i. Goods and Services Tax (GST)

Revenues, expenses and assets are recognised net of the amount of GST, except where the amount of GST incurred is not recoverable from the Australian Tax Office. In these circumstances the GST is recognised as part of the cost of acquisition of the asset or as part of an item of the expense. Receivables and payables in the balance sheet are shown inclusive of GST.

Cash flows are presented in the cash flow statement on a gross basis, except for the component of investing and financing activities, which undisclosed as operating cash flows.

j. Comparative Figures

When required by Accounting Standards, comparative figures have been adjusted to conform to changes in presentation for the current financial year.

Critical Accounting Estimates and Judgments

The Foundation evaluated estimates and judgments incorporated into the financial report based on historical knowledge and best available current information. Estimates the shrew of reasonable expectation of future events and are based on current trends and economic data, obtained both externally and from within the Foundation.
